Spanish Loyalists Drive On Foe's Mountain Strongholds

MADRID AREA SCENE OF NEW 3-HOUR FIGHT

HENDAYE, France (AP)—The Spanish army stabbed at Spanish insurgents' mountain defenses west of Teruel today in an effort to roll up the extreme right flank of Generalissimo Franco's long eastern front.

Dispatches from Barcelona said General Jose Maja's veteran fighters captured Villar Del Cobo, a communications center on the Guadalquivir river, linking three columns of fighting in the Albaracin hills about 20 miles west of Teruel.

These reports, however, were disputed by the insurgents, who dismissed the government attacks as feeble and announced they were routed by cavalry.

On the South Catalonia, or Ebro river front, there was no lessening in the fighting which started ten days ago, marking the start of the government offensive to check the insurgent drive to Valencia.

Barcelona, the present governmental capital, was raided last night by five bombers which dropped their missiles squarely into the city.

Searchlights picked out the attacking planes and anti-aircraft fire apparently caught one ship. It broke from the squadron and disappeared, losing altitude rapidly.

MADRID, (AP)—Thousands of shells were exchanged before dawn today in heavy fighting in University, nearest point of the insurgent siege line at Madrid. Bombing of machine guns incessantly for three hours accompanied the heavy artillery and mortar fire. Roads and streets near the area were strewn with stray bullets.

Effect of the outburst, the first real fighting in the devastated University City sector in several months, was not known. Government officials, however, said effective artillery fire caused heavy insurgent losses.

Studio Man Freed Of Forgery Charge

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Layne Britton, studio makeup man, was cleared today of complicity in a scheme to sell promissory notes bearing the forged name of movie magnate Louis B. Mayer. Charges of forgery and grand theft against Britton were dismissed at the prosecution's request.

George Donald Smart, movie sound technician, who asserted he used Britton as his unwitting tool to impersonate Mayer in a telephone conversation, will be given a probation hearing next week.

Smart pleaded guilty to selling a $22,500 forged note to a Los Angeles attorney. The victim, Francis L. Burns, 55, had an uncashed check for $42 in his coat. He had been treated recently at General hospital.

Jobless Man Jumps To Death In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A jobless bill collector's death plunge from the 12th floor of a downtown office building was believed today to have been motivated by despondency over ill health.

The victim, Francis L. Burns, 55, had an uncashed check for $42 in his coat. He had been treated recently at General hospital.

Wounded Suspect Beggars for Bullet

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—James Zahner, 16, who was held without bail for a further hearing after having been shot in what, police said, was an attempted robbery, has asked detectives for the bullet a patrolman fired into his side.

"I want it as a reminder," he said.

Members of the Public Affairs council will meet at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Y. M. C. A. to hear a talk by State Senator Harry Westover on "The Procedure in Handling a Bill in the State Legislature."

The Public Affairs council was previously named "The Commonwealth club."

Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg has returned to Santa Ana from Northern California. Wahlberg will go back to his duties at the courthouse annex next Monday morning. W. M. Cory, one of his assistants, is reported in Northern California where he is vacationing.

Seven members of the chamber of commerce were named today to prepare a float as an entry in the Tournament of Lights Aug. 20 at Newport bay. Those delegated to do the work are as follows: Crawford Nalle, chairman; C. O. Glick, Louis Danz, Les Phillips, Harold (Shorty) Harrison, Frank McCowan and Paul Reynolds.

Ickes Welcomed to the West

Mrs. John Boettiger (right), daughter of President and Mrs. Roosevelt welcomed Secretary of Interior and Mrs. Harold Ickes to Seattle from where Ickes was to go to Alaska. The Boettigers took the Ickes direct from the train to a coast guard plane for a tour of Olympic peninsula.

Court Holds Husbands Have Right to Swing Back When Wives Start Throwing Fists

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—Men who have pugilistically inclined wives, says a representative of New Jersey's chancery court, should follow instincts of self-preservation rather than the age-old unwritten rule that says gentlemen should not strike the so-called weaker sex.

In other words, advises Advisory Master N. Demarest Campbell, today when the missus starts smacking hubby with Louisian rights or Galento-lan lefts, mister should reply in kind.

Campbell gave his advice to husbands-at-large when a West Norwood man asked for a divorce on grounds of cruelty. He left his wife, he said, because she beat him and he was tired of "taking it."

"Don't you know that self preservation is the first law of nature?" the advisory master asked the petitioner. "When wives attack their husbands the husbands don't need this court and they don't need lawyers. What these wives need is a good healthy swat you know where."

"You had your remedy and didn't use it," he added. "I believe if you had it would have done some good. Petition denied."

She and her husband, Frank Chapman, returned to America on the Italian liner Conte Di Savoia which transported the former British monarch and his American wife from Genoa to Cannes.

Chapman said Duke "looks better and much younger than he did in 1924 when he first met him."

Pair Wedded With License of 1928

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—John Souza, 37, and Mary Costa, 31, finally got around to do what they planned to do 10 years ago. They were married yesterday using a marriage license issued July 13, 1928. "I've been too busy to get married," said Souza.

Dr. Millikan's Son Weds In England

GODALMING, Surrey, Eng. (AP)—Dr. Glenn Allan Millikan, second son of Prof. Robert Millikan of Pasadena, Cal., was married yesterday to Frances Clare Leigh-Mallory.

The bride is the elder daughter of the late George Leigh-Mallory and Mrs. Leigh-Mallory.

Where Three Nations Meet—In Trouble

This map shows how Japan, Russia and Manchoukuo figure in a border dispute that has the old world jittery. Dotted line indicates what cartographers believe is the correct boundary, but Japan and Russia will argue over that. Inset map shows disputed area in relation to eastern Asia, with arrow at sore spot.

JAPAN OFFERS PEACE TERMS TO RUSSIANS

ing move is designed to settle the ownership of the region around Changkufeng Hill which Soviet Russians began fortifying July 11.

The Soviet government claims the zone is within her territory; Japan says it is in Manchoukuo.

HOPE FOR PEACE

MOSCOW, (AP)—Hope that the Changkufeng incident on the Siberian-Manchoukuo frontier yet might be prevented from developing into a major conflict between Russia and Japan was seen today on two grounds.

They were:

1. Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to the Soviet Union, visited Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar of foreign affairs, for the first time since their stormy interview July 20.

2. Fighting on the Changkufeng front failed to spread to any other points on the long Siberian-Manchoukuo frontier.

Observers hesitated to attach too much significance to either of these factors until the outcome of the talk between Shigemitsu and Litvinoff was known.

Their conference July 20 turned out to be a prelude to heavier military action in the Far East.

Have No Excuse For Tardiness

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—A year ago, when a street clock disappeared mysteriously from in front of a business establishment where it had stood for years, Clock Watchers, Inc., organized and the members announced they were campaigning for a new clock to replace the missing one.

For a year they carried on their campaign. They threatened almost daily to the merchant that unless the clock was replaced "steps will be taken."

The Clock Watchers finally won their point. "Which means the Clock Watchers will be minus a worn-out excuse for being late for work," said the merchant.

Medal Presented Santa Ana Youth

For military excellence and proficiency, Richard W. Budd, Santa Ana youth, received the commander-in-chief's medal and a citation at the final parade of the 1933 Citizens Military Training camp at the Monterey presidio today.

The award was one of 14 presented by Col. Homer N. Grover, 11th cavalry, camp commander.

Veteran Railroad Engineer Passes

COMPTON, (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Saturday for John William Brown, veteran railroad construction engineer who built the first rail lines into Death valley. He died in a sanitarium here yesterday at the age of 69.

BAVARIAN LEADER DIES

REGENSBURG, Germany, (AP)—Dr. Heinrich Held, 70, formerly premier of Bavaria and candidate for the German presidency in 1925, died today.

Four hundred and eighty-nine new Kansas oil wells completed in the first half of 1933 with potential production totaling 621,333 barrels a day.

2 ORANGE CO. PROJECTS GET PWA MONEY

PWA funds were allocated today for two major Orange county construction projects, The Journal learned in an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco.

One of the grants was for $58,050 for construction of a new wing at the Newport Beach high school, total cost of which will be $129,000.

The other grant, $22,410, went to the Buena Park sanitary district for erection of a $49,000 sewage treatment plant.

The allocations were announced by Kenneth A. Godwin, PWA regional director.

Neither the Newport high school district nor the Buena Park sanitary district has definitely arranged local financing for the sponsor's share in the projects, and the PWA allocations still are contingent upon the two districts.

CUT IN SALES TAX ADVOCATED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—California's revenue from the 3 per cent sales tax is sufficiently above estimates that the levy can be reduced to 2 1/2 per cent without impairing revenues for public schools or other items of government, in the opinion of Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield.

In an address here last night, Hatfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination as governor, pledged to reduce taxes $25,000,000 annually by eliminating governmental extravagances and "pay-roll padding for political purposes."

He expressed himself as "absolutely opposed" to repeal of the sales tax and declared a proposed "single tax" would "place impossible and confiscatory taxes on our farmers, home-owners and all common property taxpayers."

Plans to Resign

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis (D., Ill.) has announced his intention to resign from the senate next year in order to devote his full time to private affairs. He said he would have resigned this year except that he desired to remain in congress to support President Roosevelt.

Fifi Will Divorce 'Sweet Little Boy'

NEW YORK, (AP)—The Daily News says Fifi Dorsay, French actress, still thinks her husband, Morgan Hill, is "such a sweet little boy," but that she is going to Michigan to get a divorce.

"He was so very quiet all the time—and you know with me, I am anything but that!" the vivacious actress was quoted.

Fifi said once she gains her marital freedom, she will go to the Belgian Congo to hunt big game.

him out on the road, they searched his pockets and took $112 in bills. Then they ordered him back into the car, forced him to drive a mile farther, and put him out.

"Keep on walking a mile or two and you'll find your car," they told him, and sped off.

A dark sedan, without lights, sped by from the rear as French walked along the road, he continued. Evidently, he said, that car picked up the two bandits. He found his own auto a mile away.

He described the two men to Deputy Sheriffs Tom Murphree and A. W. Rodabaugh, saying one was a light-colored negro with thin lips, wearing brown trousers, a green sweater-vest and a brown hat. The second, he said, was a Mexican, bareheaded. Both carried pistols.

Charles Dickens' Kin Has Film Role

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—A great-granddaughter of Charles Dickens was launched today on a career in Hollywood films.

Tousle-haired Jennifer Downing, 6, late of London, won a role in "The Young in Heart" because she knew how to ride a horse.

Her father, Terence Downing, is a British movie actor who has transferred his activities here.

WPA Approves Gardening Projects, Providing Work For 500

LAND, WATER NOW MUST BE OBTAINED

WPA officials at Washington today approved the SRA application for three gardening projects in Orange county. Mrs. Katharine Handley, local SRA director, reported this morning and some 500 class "B" WPA workers will be put to work on these as soon as all details have been taken care of.

Mrs. Handley stated that the local SRA office is desirous of starting the projects here as soon as possible, although she was unable to disclose the date they will be put into operation.

A number of details must be worked out, she explained, including obtaining desirable land and leases on such property, arrangements for securing water and approval of such recommendations as the local office has to make.

Farm products raised on the land will be turned over to the surplus commodity division of the government for distribution among persons on direct relief, both county and state. Some of the agricultural products may be distributed to WPA workers, also, Mrs. Handley said.

The wages to be paid the project workers will be the same that prevails in this county on other WPA work.

For unskilled laborers this is $2.80 a month. Foremen will receive higher pay in keeping with the wage scale here.

The SRA is the sponsor of the projects. They are aimed at putting men to work who are incapable of handling heavy labor on WPA construction jobs here.

Ex-Felon Admits Utah Slaying

John Deering (left), 39, ex-convict, was to be returned from Detroit, Mich., to Utah to face a murder charge in the holdup killing of Oliver J. Meredith, Jr., wealthy merchant. Deering, according to officers, confessed the crime. He is shown with Detective Capt. E. A. Hedman of Salt Lake City, who went to Detroit to return the prisoner. Under questioning, Deering admitted several other crimes.

LABORERS RUN OFF FIELD BY STRIKE HEADS

Threats of violence broke forth today in Orange county's minor vegetable workers' strike, as six Mexican laborers were run off a field near Paulmarino by four strike leaders.

Sheriff's officers were called to the ranch of K. Yamami, Paulmarino, early today after six tomato pickers had fled after alleged threats by four Costa Mesa men whose names Yamami turned over to officers.

A number of Mexican vegetable workers are striking because of a five-cent wage cut put in effect when a wage agreement expired July 30.

Yamami's workers, he told the sheriff's officers, had been working for six cents per box. He said the four strike organizers made threats of violence and frightened the pickers away.

"I hope there will be no effort," said Sheriff Logan Jackson, "by people who do not want to work to intimidate or coerce those who are trying to make a living. We are watching the situation very carefully to prevent violence."

FOUR HELD FOR TRIAL IN DRUG SELLING CASE

Facing possible 12-year penitentiary sentences if convicted, four Anaheim Mexicans were held to answer to superior court today on charges of peddling marijuana cigarettes.

Preliminary hearing before City Judge Frank Tausch of Anaheim followed a raid by Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton's investigators and deputies and Anaheim police early last Friday.

Manuel Castro, 25, alleged leader of the family dope ring; Onesimo Castro, 27, his brother; Mrs. Aurora Castro, 18, Manuel's wife; and Mrs. Isabel Castro, 56, the men's mother, will be arraigned in superior court Aug. 12, Dist. Atty. Preston Turner said.

The four were held to answer to the higher court on two counts of selling narcotics and one of possession of such goods.

Manuel Castro was charged with an additional count of being an accessory to the sale. N. D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney, appeared for the defendants.

Menton said after the raid that the castros had boasted of selling 1000 "reefers" a day, many to school children. Neighbors said children visited the Castro home on Palm street frequently.

GARBAGE LAW HELD INVALID

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—An Orange county ordinance forbidding importation of garbage into the county was held unconstitutional by Judge Charles C. Haines, sitting as temporary justice of the Fourth district appellate court, yesterday.

He reversed the conviction of a Beverly Hills man who had been arrested and fined for hauling garbage to a ranch in Orange county.

Judge Haines held the ordinance discriminatory, in that it would be closer to haul garbage from a point in Whittier, outside the county, than it would be to transport it from Santa Ana, in Orange county.

I Just Found Out About Orange County Shoplifters

By MILLARD BROWNE

"Old Eagle Eye"—the man who's caught more shoplifters than anyone else in Santa Ana—is getting a little out of practice at his favorite indoor sport these days, because all the big-time sneaky-thieves are on vacation.

But Eagle Eye doesn't have long to wait. He knows the autumn rush, which already has started gathering some momentum, will put the shoplifters back to work, and he anticipates a bumper crop of half a dozen thieves a week this fall.

He knows the smarter ones will have thought up some new tricks by fall, and the prospect sounds rather stimulating, because he knows most of the old tricks, can recall dozens that were executed masterfully, but not quite well enough.

"Old Eagle Eye" is the monicker they've hung on John Ortiz, assistant manager in The Famous Department store. The nickname was hung on him back in Denver when he worked for the Golden Eagle store, where shoplifters were about as thick as customers.

Since then, Eagle Eye Ortiz has spent 11 years in the Los Angeles Famous store, where he had a roving assignment, much of his job being to keep an eye on the stock and on potential pilferers. So now that he's selling clothes in the Santa Ana store, he just can't help noticing shoplifters.

Some other stores don't have Eagle Eyes, though, and average annual loss from shoplifting is three per cent of the stock in department or clothing stores, six per cent in five-and-ten stores.

Majority of the stores' losses are to professional thieves rather than to youngsters or amateurs. The accomplished shoplifters mostly work "quick as a flash" count on a speedy getaway, and even Ortiz occasionally is astonished by the bulky articles they can carry away without being noticed.

One shoplifter made off with 150 neckties, then came back to get 23 boxes of hosiery—and that's real shoplifting. His big mistake was coming back, though, because Ortiz had spotted the first theft, and was just waiting for him.

That particular "lifter" had a tricky approach. He was a traveling salesman, it seems, and was to meet another salesman who sold goods to the store. He stood around, and no one paid much attention to him. Ortiz happened to see him grab the neckties, but it was too late to stop him. The man came back a month later, and this time Ortiz let him get the 23 boxes of hosiery in his car before he apprehended the man. Police took $800 worth of assorted stock out of his car.

Biggest shoplifting ring Ortiz ever helped catch had stored up $5000 worth of clothing. The gang went off to prison. Six shoplifters caught in the local Famous store now are inmates at Tehachapi, three more at San Quentin.

That's about the ratio in shoplifting—two women to one man. Women usually are cleverer, have a better average in getting by with it. Ortiz is still looking for a beautiful redhead who got away from him, carrying a sizable bit of stock. Ortiz was suspicious the minute she walked in, he recalls, but as she walked to the rear of the store, he began waiting on another customer and lost track of her—until he saw her walking, "heavily loaded," out a side door. He gave chase, but she disappeared.

Eagle Eye Ortiz usually can "spot" a shoplifter the minute he walks into the store. "They're all hopheads or good-for-nothings," he explains, "and you can see that nearly everything they're wearing is stolen—it usually gets the merchandise that either doesn't fit or looks wrong on them."

They're not all so easily spotted, though, Ortiz admits. He's caught gorgeous blondes and mused-up trampers, and he's caught Japanese, Chinese, Americans, Germans and Jews, Irishmen and negroes. He's also apprehended two women who are "kleptomaniacs."

Usually target for professional shoplifters is clothing that's easily disposed of—lingerie, dresses, suits, trousers, coats, hosiery, even shoes. The amateurs and kids go in more for knick-knacks.

How can anyone steal something so bulky as a dress? It takes a little cooperation, but it's been done quite frequently. Take the recent police case where one woman swiped four dresses in one haul. She looked several of them over, went in a dressing room to try them on. Just then two accomplices walked into the store, did the same thing. Then all the women came out of the dressing room, the two accomplices engaged the saleslady in conversation, while the first woman walked out of the store. She was wearing the four stolen dresses under her own.

Ortiz caught one lately. It was a woman wearing a polo coat. As she left the store he became suspicious, overtook her, found a suit had been stuffed into a bag on her back that was hidden by the polo coat. He followed her to

Miniature County Fair Planned By Fullerton Association

SHOP WINDOWS TO BE USED FOR DISPLAYS

FULLERTON.—Exhibits similar to those at county and state fairs will be placed on display in numerous stores of the city if a plan presented by Howard Dunham, president, is approved at the next meeting of the Fullerton Merchants' Association.

Plans for the "county fair," which probably would be held in September or October, have caused considerable discussion among the merchants. Harry May, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said today.

A section in each of the leading stores would be reserved for the exhibits, and prizes would be offered.

Jewelry would be displayed at one store, handwork at another, and quilts at another.

Agriculture and other products commonly exhibited at fairs would be solicited from Fullerton residents.

K. C. Girl Makes Surprise Call Here

John H. Lewis, 1010 North Ross street, received a surprise visit yesterday from Miss Romanza Feriman of Kansas City, his great niece, who he has never seen before. Miss Feriman is 18 years of age and is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Wyatt, also of Kansas City.

Lewis said he has not seen his sister, Mrs. Wyatt, for a number of years. Miss Feriman was on her way back to Kansas with friends when she visited Lewis yesterday.

William F. Carl Dies in Fullerton

William Franklin Carl, 82, died yesterday at his home in Fullerton. A native of Ontario, Canada, he has lived in California for 13 years, 11 of which were spent in Santa Ana and two in Fullerton.

A retired grocery store proprietor, Mr. Carl is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Ann Carl. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel with the Rev. C. M. Aker officiating. Entombment will follow in Fairhaven mausoleum.

H. B. Salesman Held on Charge

John J. Bliss, 37-year-old Huntington Park refrigerator salesman, was in the county jail today charged with a morals offense against an eight-year-old Fullerton girl.

Bliss was arrested late yesterday by Fullerton police after the girl's father had signed a complaint. Police said Bliss accosted the girl Tuesday afternoon in a Fullerton store.

LEAVE FOR HOME
COSTA MESA.—At the conclusion of a two-week visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gibson, 1935 Harbor boulevard, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Treadwell left Friday for their home at Shandon, being accompanied north by their grandsons, Marvin and Arthur Gibson.

her car, found six more suits stolen from other local merchants.

Some shoplifters are well equipped. Ortiz caught one who was armed with a big bundle, carefully wrapped and neatly tied with string, only to find out that it had a trapdoor bottom, and when the owner set it down over a leather jacket the jacket mysteriously disappeared. He's seen the same thing worked with suitcases.

Shoplifters are busiest Saturday afternoons and, strangely, early Monday mornings (before clerks have really got down to business.) They limit their attacks almost entirely to the big, busy stores.

Shoplifting, if done in two or more stores, usually becomes burglary (entering a store with intent to commit a theft.) With obvious amateurs who just picked up a little trinket, however, both the courts and the merchants are less harsh. Punishment for conviction is a jail sentence. Many storekeepers, schooled in diplomacy rather than law enforcement, apprehend the pilferer with the remark, "Do you want to pay for that now or shall we put it on your bill?"

First thing the professionals do when caught is to blow up, try to bluff by claiming they'll sue. It works, sometimes.

Most nonchalant shoplifting: Customer walks into store, picks up a pair of pants, then walks over to the clerk and says, "Here's some trousers I bought last week, but they don't fit and I'd like to exchange them." That's the biggest reason most stores won't exchange or refund unless the customer has a receipt.

Balddest attempt at shoplifting Ortiz has seen was the time in a Los Angeles store when a cute little waif offered him a $3 watch for 75 cents. He said he didn't like that one, would rather have a wrist-watch; the tot returned two minutes later with a wrist-watch for $1. He'd picked it off a counter in the same store.

The Core.. No More

LA HABRA.—Led by Andy Anderson of Fullerton, president, the La Habra riding club will participate in the four-mile Salute to the States parade in Long Beach Saturday night.

ORANGE.—Eighteen arrests, including eight for intoxication and two for drunk-driving, were made by his department during July, Chief of Police George Franzen reported to the city council. Police also issued 49 traffic citations, 30 of them being for speeding.

EL MODENA.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross and son, James, have left for Miles City, Mont., where they will make their home. They will visit in Washington and Oregon en route.

FULLERTON.—More than 5000 children and adults have used the Fullerton Union High school plunge since it opened for the vacation period June 20. The hours are from 1 to 9 p. m. daily except Sunday.

FULLERTON.—This city is in the midst of one of its greatest public building booms, with a city hall and post office building already nearing a start, and a new library building project at the end of preliminary stages.

BREA.—First industry started in this community, the Brea Boiler Works plans further expansion with the opening of a plant at Coalinga. It will be the fifth in a chain of small plants operated under the general management of Forrest Hurst, Brea.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Police are searching for four men and a woman charged with stealing coin boxes of marble machines owned by W. E. Foust.

ORANGE.—President Martell Thompson of the Lions club described highlights of the recent convention of Lions International to members at a luncheon here yesterday. Thompson was Orange's only delegate.

FULLERTON.—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Maple, 523 Jacaranda place, left yesterday for their former home, Monterey, where Mr. Maple will resume a job there as civil service health inspector. He has been employed by the Val Vita Food Products Inc., in Fullerton for the past two and a-half years.

LAGUNA BEACH.—A piano, radio and other pieces of furniture have been donated to the Boy Scouts for their "hut" here, Scoutmaster Red Kirkpatrick said.

ORANGE.—Arnold Kohls, 549 East Washington street, reported to Santa Ana police the theft of a spotlight from his automobile parked at 410 North Birch street, Santa Ana.

CALHOUN GAINS, DOCTORS SAY

Charles Calhoun, 28-year-old confessed slayer of his stepfather, was reported "quite a little better" today at the county hospital, where he was rushed after the second of a series of attacks of hysteria Tuesday night.

Calhoun is awaiting trial for murder, following the fatal shooting June 26 in Midway City of Clyde Dillinger, cousin of the late gangster John Dillinger.

The prisoner had been released from the hospital only last Saturday after a week's stay in recovering from a previous attack in which he required six hukey deputy sheriffs to hold him down. Physicians said he might be taken back to jail within a few days.

Penney Employees Picnic at Irvine

An inter-city get together picnic of the J. C. Penney stores of Whittier, Anaheim and Santa Ana was held last evening at Irvine park, more than 150 clerks and the families participating.

A hotly contested ball game resulted in a victory for the Santa Ana team, score 13 to 9. Manager Forest A. Jones, of the local store, was on the receiving end and has more to show for it than the score indicates. He has almost as many bruises as his team had scores.

The event proved to be one of the delightful inter-city meetings which is held occasionally during the year.

Debt Moratoria Work Both Ways

SAN DIEGO.—(P) Mortgage moratoria apply to creditors as well as debtors, Judge Charles C. Haines, sitting as justice pro-tem in the fourth district appellate court, held in reversing the Kern county superior court here yesterday.

A moratorium merely extends the statutes of limitations, he pointed out, and held that debtors may not take advantage of the time limit on deficiency judgments where the statute of limitations expires during the moratorium.

Florida leads the states in car-load shipments of tomatoes. Texas is second, and California, third.

JOHN JONES NEW HEAD OF C. M. LEGION

COSTA MESA.—John Jones, who succeeded George Gripe as commander of Costa Mesa American Legion post, 445, was installed at appropriate ceremonies following Monday night's election of officers.

Other cabinet members, installed by "Pop" Dukes, 21st district commander, and Ralph Nicodemus, candidate for district first vice-commander, were Otto Tryon, first vice-commander; William Milford, second vice-commander; Goss Grable, adjutant R. C. Fisher, fiscal officer; Robert Bomboy, chaplain; Leroy Anderson, historian; Shelby Kanany, sergeant-at-arms.

District Commander Dukes announced that the pre-convention caucus, originally scheduled for Costa Mesa, would instead be held at Huntington Beach, Aug. 20-21, and change for district first vice-commander because of lack of proper facilities for handling so large a crowd in Costa Mesa. Five hundred Legionnaires from all parts of Southern California are expected to attend.

Thomas E. Grupe, Costa Mesa delegate to Boys' State convention held in Sacramento last month, gave an account of activities during the ten-day convale.

A gift of $20, to apply on furnishing the new hall, was presented by President-elect Geraldine Grupe, on behalf of the Legion auxiliary.

Guests included past-commander James Tucker, Santa Ana Comrades Foote and Clark, Tustin; Jerry Grupe, Los Angeles; Cora Bomboy, chaplain of the auxiliary, and Geraldine Grupe, in addition to the installing officers.

Stork Shower and Luncheon at G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Walter Dungan was complimented at a stork shower and luncheon given recently by Mrs. Elmer Hall in her home at Anaheim.

Delphinium cutters and phlox in pink and blue shades decorated the luncheon table. Nut cups were in the form of tiny bassinets. For the dessert course small cakes iced in blue and topped by little storks were served with pink and white ice cream. The affair was devoted to assembling a scrap book under direction of Mrs. Ted Payne. Gifts for Mrs. Dungan were arranged around a large stork figure on a side table.

Guests included Mrs. Dungan, Mrs. Wesley Lamb, Mrs. Clifton Bryan and Mrs. Derb Moss of Garden Grove, Mrs. Henry Beckne, Mrs. Wesley Hein, Mrs. Ted Payne, Mrs. Harold Schaeffer and Mrs. Clarence Knapp of Anaheim.

Insanity Plea In Husband Killing

LOS ANGELES.—(P) Mrs. Dorothy Donegan, 41, accused of slaying her divorced husband, William, 49, last June 30, will go on trial Sept. 15 in superior court. She pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the charges yesterday.

20 Naval Planes To Fly to S.F. Bay

SAN PEDRO.—(P) Five scouting seaplane units, comprising 20 planes, will take off today from Reeves field, Terminal Island, to join their respective cruises, now in San Francisco bay. Lieut. Comm. W. M. Updegraff will be in charge of the flight.

Anaheim Laborer Held in Morals Case

Crescencio Jaramillo, 23, laborer of 412 South Palm street, Anaheim, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhan and James Musick on a warrant from the Santa Ana court, charging him with a felony morals offense. He was booked in the county jail pending transfer to San Bernardino.

ACTIVITY IN NEWPORT BAY GAINS GREATLY

NEWPORT BEACH.—With activity among commercial and pleasure craft 1938 Newport harbor now at its all-time peak, figures were released by the chamber of commerce today showing the harbor's steady increase in activity during the past four years.

Vessels using the harbor as a home port have increased from 693 in 1934 to 1306 last year, including 1054 pleasure craft and 252 fishing vessels.

Trips in and out of the harbor last year totaled 171,992, compared with only 5700 four years ago, 14,900 in 1935 and 29,650 in 1936. Forty-eight thousand pleasure excursion passengers were hauled last year, 110,000 fishing passengers and 180,000 ferry passengers.

The rapidly growing fishing industry secured over the half-million dollar mark last year with estimated catches to canneries valued at $268,170 and estimated catches to wholesale markets totaling $248,500. The fishing industry was a $400,000 business in 1934, $95,000 the following year, and only $150,000 in 1936, compared with last year's $516,670.

Canned fish shipped out of the state from Newport's canneries totaled 3690 tons for a revenue of $241,400.

COYOTE PAYS TOWN VISIT

FULLERTON.—Apparently becoming tired of the hills, a big gray-brown coyote came to town Tuesday, causing no little excitement among shoppers.

A service station attendant, his attention drawn by footfalls on the gravel, spotted the animal, and yelled, "Coyote." The beast wheeled around, trotted out in the open, and headed leisurely across lots toward the rear of the police station, where he suddenly disappeared.

Other persons told of seeing the coyote jog into Fullerton from East Chapman avenue, but none reported seeing it after the animal reached the police station.

Newlyweds Return To C. M. Home

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith returned Sunday to their new Glendale home after two weeks' wedding trip in the San Bernardino mountains. The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lienau, 2225 Harbor boulevard, was married at the home of her parents, July 17.

Mr. Smith, formerly of Pennsylvania, has been instructor at the National Electrical school, in Los Angeles, for the past three years.

GARDEN GROVE.—A total of $83,250 will be required to run schools of the Garden Grove Elementary district for the coming year, according to the budget approved by the trustees following a public hearing Tuesday evening, when no protests were filed on the proposed expenditures.

Of this amount only $26,329 will be raised through district taxation, the remaining $56,921 coming from the state. Of the current expense for the year $40,000 will go for administration; $57,450 for instruction; $5800 for operation of school plant; $2000 for maintenance of school plant; $6500 for coordination activities, and auxiliary agencies, $750 for fixed charges; $250, capital outlays; $5500, undistributed reserve and $1000 to the general reserve for 1939-1940.

In addition to adoption of the budget the board rehired all of the past year's school janitors, discussed adding instrumental and music courses and opened bids on tires for the school buses. Awarding of the contract was held over for future study.

KANSANS ARRIVE

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Peter Newman and family of White-water, Kans., arrived this week for a month's visit at the home of Mrs. Newman's sister, Mrs. W. L. Carpenter, 222 East Twentieth street.

Cynthia Glenn is unpredictable. Hence, Peter Moore, in love with her, is not surprised by her latest "crazy scheme." In her absence, Irene and Tommy, to a new Southern home to the newly-rich Mrs. Potter-Payne, who is trying to create "background" for herself with the hope of marrying her daughter.

She alone for while and see how things work out? If you act as though you don't care whether or not she marries Bruce, she might turn right around and marry him.

"Maybe," said his mother, but she sounded very doubtful. "Maybe I have been trying to force her too much." Her voice trailed away.

There was a brief silence. Then, Tommy grinned, and said "Well, Mom, I'm waiting. For what?"

"For you to get round to me. Don't you want to speak your mind to me?"

"Yes, I was going to, but suddenly, without a moment's warning, Mrs. Potter-Payne burst into tears."

TOMMY was shocked. He gathered her into his arms.

"There, there," he said gently. "Don't do that, Mom."

She fumbled for a handkerchief but couldn't find one.

"Here," said Tommy, taking his out of his pocket. "Use mine."

His mother did so, choking back her sobs. "I'm—I'm sorry Tommy. I—I don't know what came over me all of a sudden. Don't give any way to my feelings but—I got to thinking how hard I'd worked when you and Irene were children and how much I'd wanted to make something of myself so you two would never be ashamed of me. And now—"

"Ashamed of you! Tommy exclaimed. "Why, you funny old darling! We're proud of you! Again he took her in his arms. "And I'd do anything I could to make up to you for all you've been through—I might even marry a girl I didn't love if it would really make you happy. But Mom, Bruce won't have me—and a fellow can't force a girl to become engaged to him. You know that."

Mrs. Potter-Payne nodded. "I know And—and I'm not really so crazy about having you marry Beatrice," she confessed. "If Irene and Bruce would only get engaged and married, I'd not bother about you and Beatrice."

"No kidding?" Tommy looked relieved.

"That's the truth, son. Come to think of it, I'm not so crazy for you to marry any one—I'd sort of hate not having you around to—put me in my place now and then."

Tommy laughed, and kissed her cheek. "Atta girl, Mom!"

SHE sighed. "And I guess I'd better take your advice about Irene, too. I guess I'd better just leave her alone."

"Listen," said Tommy suddenly. "I have an idea."

"What about?"

"About Irene and Bruce. I've thought of a scheme that might help things along between them. Irene won't be forced, but maybe she could influence her more subtly."

"How, Tommy?" his mother asked eagerly.

"By persuading Jennie Smith to play up to Bruce! It might make Irene jealous."

"What!" gasped Mrs. Potter-Payne.

"Listen, Mom—remember that movie we saw in Charlotte? The one where the heroine turned a cold shoulder on the man her folks wanted her to marry—until another girl started making a play for him?"

"Yes—but the girl who made a play for him was pretty! Bruce would never pay any attention to a girl as plain as Miss Smith!"

"I'm not so sure about that. I've a sneaking idea Jennie Smith would be a good-looking if we could persuade her to leave off her glasses and doll up a bit—that is, when Bruce is around to see her."

"You're crazy, Tommy! In the first place she'd never consent to it!"

Tommy was silent for a moment. Then he was remembering now lovely Miss Smith had looked yesterday at lunch. He was also remembering the feel of her lips beneath his

Miss Hoy
Fetes
Miss Metzgar

Gathering together a group of friends of their junior college days, Miss Wilma Hoy last night complimented Miss Eleanor Metzgar, bride-elect of Reuel Walker Klein, at a delightful party.

The matrons and misses enjoyed a session of buncos during the evening, with prizes ultimately going to the honoree and to Miss Lillian McDonald.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. John McFadden, Miss Hoy was able to decorate the spacious living-room at 1225 French street with lovely garden flowers, including golden poppies, baby dahlias in the yellow tones and vivid Mexican sunflowers. She was assisted in serving a late refreshment course by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, and by her two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Tooley of Yuma and Mrs. Eugene MacKenney. Mrs. Tooley is the former Betty Hoy, and Mrs. MacKenney was Miss Jean Hoy.

Highlight of the evening came with presentation of many gifts in dainty linens to Miss Metzgar. Sharing in the courtesy with Miss Hoy were Mrs. J. H. Metzgar, Mrs. Lawrence Minge of Glendale (Evelyn Metzgar), Mrs. Bertha Klein, Miss Ethel Walker, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, Mrs. Douglas Paterson, Mrs. Eugene MacKenney, Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Ralph Mitzel, Mrs. Manley Nattand of Long Beach, Mrs. George Cruikshank of Downey, Mrs. Edward Adams of Salinas, Mrs. Baxter Geeting of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Melville Honefeld, Miss Mary Ford, Miss Sarah Crane, Miss Mildred Spicer, Miss Mary Louise Wallace, Miss Marie Smith, Miss Roberta Goodrich of Orange and Miss Lillian McDonald of Laguna Beach.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER ARE HOSTESSES

Mrs. W. L. Mayhew and her daughter, Miss Dorothy, were co-hostesses at a delightful luncheon at Daniger's yesterday afternoon honoring their niece and cousin, Miss Marcia Williams of Beloit, Wis., who has been spending the summer in Balboa.

Delicate pink and green flowers, tapers and place-cards created a pretty table, completed by the service of pink crystal. After luncheon the group adjourned to the card room for a session of bridge.

Present to enjoy the courtesy extended to Miss Williams by the charming mother and daughter were Miss Margaret Rust, Miss Betty Jean Volkman, Miss Helen Gillogly, Mrs. Hal Bennett, Mrs. Jean Volkman, Mrs. Reginald Rust and Mrs. George Brumell.

Ann Bell
Is Breakfast
Hostess

When a score of sub-debs gathered yesterday morning at the North Broadway home of Miss Ann Bell they were ushered into the colorful garden behind the house. Here they found small tables set with gaily colored cloths which repeated the color tones of pottery service.

At each place was a jaunty Mexican tally, and the colors and symbols of that country were generally carried out during the breakfast that was served by the hostess, her mother, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell, and her sister, Mrs. Redmond Doms of Beverly Hills.

Badminton and croquet on the spacious lawns proved enjoyable during the remainder of the affair.

Guests of Miss Bell were Miss Harriet Spicer, Miss Patricia Emison, Miss Anita Potter, Miss Grace Cook, Miss Jean Dowds, Miss Barlow, Miss Miller, Miss Mary Jones, Miss Doris Cox, Miss Jeanette Brown, Miss Peggy Holloway, Miss Alice Claire McFarland, Miss Hollis Gibbs, Miss Pat Owings, Miss Dorothy Parker, Miss Jane Holmes, Miss Carolyn Wells, Miss Marjorie Nunan, Miss Marjorie Wall, Miss Ruth Ann Segerstrom, and Miss Mary Corey.

YOUNG MATRON
IS HONORED
AT SHOWER

A lovely layette shower in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Waite of this city was hosted Tuesday evening by Mrs. Harold Pickering and Mrs. E. J. Kastorff, and was held on the lawn of the Pickering home at 2315 North Bristol street.

Court whist was the diversion of the evening with first honors going to Mrs. Lyle Christensen, second honors to Mrs. Sam Sorenson, and consolation to Mrs. Leonard Cox, while traveling prize was won by Miss Zanell Morton.

A dainty refreshment course was served at individual tables which bore attractive centerpieces of pink and blue bunnies. The guests were invited into the house following refreshments, and gathered around a large pink and blue basket filled with attractive packages which were presented to the guest of honor.

Present to enjoy the delightful social evening party were the Mesdames Walden Sorenson, Sorenson, Soffie Hansen, Frank Yetmar, Harold Finnigan, John Hedrick, Reg Hartly, Charles Randall, Marvin Stroude, Myrtle Preininger, Carl Morton, Barbara Zanell, Morton, Barbara Ashmore and Mrs. Ashmore. During her visit several days were spent by the Platts and herself at Forest Home and Lake Arrowhead.

PARTY

Making plans for a theater party in Los Angeles next Wednesday, members of the Lauralette Hostess club met yesterday in the home of Mrs. Virginia Billops in Silverado canyon.

During a business session it was decided to draw up a definite program of activity for the club, and vote on it at the next meeting.

Club members present were Mrs. Vivian Smith, Mrs. Helen Taylor, Mrs. Helen Siefert, Mrs. Helen Schreff, Miss Rondella Anderson, Miss Irene Heine, Miss Anna May Erlanson, Miss Thelma Hicks, and Mrs. Billops. Miss Alice Anderson and Miss Helen Anderson of Minnesota were special guests.

Miss Heine will be hostess to the group at the next regular meeting. Her home is in Orange.

BACONS LEAVE
ON SUMMER VACATIONS

Walter Bacon left by train from Los Angeles for Seattle Saturday night, planning to go on to Bremerton from whence, as a lieutenant in the naval reserves, he will ship on the U. S. S. San Francisco for a two weeks' cruise. Mrs. Bacon will leave this evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lippert of Inglewood, on a five weeks' eastern vacation. They will go to Washington, D. C., and proceed north with stops at New York City, Boston and Montreal, making a circuit around to Chicago and home by way of Salt Lake City.

BEACH PARTY IS ENJOYED

Yo-Ma-Po class of the First Christian church held a delightful beach party Tuesday evening at Corona del Mar with about 60 present. Guests brought their own wieners which were roasted over a series of bonfires which gave the beach a festive appearance. An Hawaiian motif was carried out with guests wearing paper leis. Willard Bassett played a guitar and sang several solos, and he and Mrs. Bassett sang a duet. The committee in charge of the evening furnished chili for the hot dogs. The pleasant evening, which came to an end with a community sing about one huge beach fire, was planned by Mr. and Mrs. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. John Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Irwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson.

BRIDE IS GIVEN
SURPRISE PARTY

Plans for Miss Dorothy Goodner, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Goodner, 506 East Myrtle street, to wed the Rev. Clyde Kennedy on September Sixth were incentive for an enjoyable party this week at the spacious home of Mrs. C. E. Smith on Red Hill avenue, Tustin. The Rev. Mr. Kennedy is a former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles and now is engaged in evangelistic work.

Tuesday's affair was planned and hosted by the executive board of Calvary church mission, a society of which the bride-elect is an active member.

Approximately 60 guests were present, each of whom brought an attractively wrapped gift for the bride's trousseau. These were presented late in the day to the honoree, who was completely surprised when two small girls, Miss Betty Elliott and Miss Rose Jones, both frocked in pink, appeared and led her to a concealed table laden with the gifts.

Another feature of the day was presentation of a well-stocked repertory index-case, filled by the guests, and given Miss Goodner by Mrs. Lewis Gall.

A musicale, greatly enjoyed by the group, featured Miss Grace Olson at the piano, Miss LaVonne and Harold Cole in vocal numbers, Miss Ethel Mae Hazen on the accordion, Mrs. Smith in song, Miss Grace Jones and Miss Arlene Birchard at the piano.

Hostesses were the Mesdames William Jones, Frank Lindgren, L. J. Gall, C. E. Smith, J. W. Payton, D. P. Leonard, Charles Olson, W. A. Chapman, J. R. Smith, George Boyer, Donald Kyle, and Miss Josephine Blood.

DELEGATES
ASILOMAR

Miss Betty Niedergall of 120 West Twentieth street, and Miss Eloise Schrier of 1224 Bush street, returned home Wednesday after a two weeks' vacation trip.

Both were delegates to the state Y. W. C. A. business girls' convention at Asilomar for a week. From there they went on to Berkeley where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sharpley for several days. Mrs. Sharpley and Miss Niedergall are sisters.

PLATTS HAVE HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Platt of 202 West Twentieth street had as house guests the last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kloos of San Francisco.

Also in their home, for the past three weeks, has been Miss Mary Ashmore of Riverside, daughter of the late Dr. Frank Ashmore and Mrs. Ashmore. During her visit several days were spent by the Platts and herself at Forest Home and Lake Arrowhead.

: MARY :
HAMPTON

Will Help You
With Your Clothes
Problem.
Write Her!

Dear Mary Hampton: Please help me in planning the wardrobe of a young girl 17 who is entering Pomona college in September as a freshman.

MRS. L. M. One thing we "old grads" have to perpetually remember is that each campus has its own little whims. And how seriously they do take these facts! It may be no more than a ten cent store comb in the hair, or white sport shoes when all logic would call for nice brown or green suede ones. But the girl "in the know" is the one who wins out!

If my elder daughter were starting off for Pomona, or almost any big school this fall, I think I would fit her outfit with about the following things. And in doing this I would feel that she had a really wearable, smart wardrobe which would make her feel relaxed and happy at all times without being either underdressed or overdressed.

There would be a sturdy, plain good-looking wool top coat which might be a camel's hair or a mixture tweed affair. Then there would be one of fall's perfectly plain wool suits in new dark color. To this I would add an extra skirt or two—a twin-sweater set or an extra odd jacket, and a flock of tailored cotton shirts and slip-overs.

Then she would have to have a dressier coat, perhaps for weekends in town, dates, and all that. It might be a fur-trimmed wool. And it might be one of the inexpensive furs. There would be a tailored wool frock to go with this—and one, or maybe two, simple frocks. Or—if the girl does not go out much in dressy clothes can always be added after school has begun, and the girl see "what other girls are wearing."

Then somewhere along the line a formal party always comes up—so for this I would send my girl with a simple little evening frock of semi-formal type. If she should become popping and go out frequently, other dressy clothes can always be added after school has begun, and the girl see "what other girls are wearing."

ASSOCIATED
BUSY DAY

Associated Women of the First Methodist church held their monthly meeting yesterday at the church, starting at 10 a. m., at which time Mrs. H. W. Guthrie, president of the Home Missionary society, called a meeting of that group together.

Several Quaker girls who have just returned from the church camp at Idyllwild, told of their experiences and thanked the society for helping send them to camp. Miss Mattie Mae Barnes and Miss Dorothy Edwards told of individual classwork at camp, while Miss Vivian Vale presented the camp schedule and told of special events.

Miss Olive Schweitzer who had arranged this part of the program, introduced the girls and told of her Bible and Hymnology class at camp. Mrs. Horton Palmer told of the women's work done by the Home Missionary society for sailors and soldiers.

The Associated Women's meeting was called to order at 11 a. m. by the president, Mrs. Clarence Bond, who presided while reports of circle activities were given by the chairman, Mrs. A. Keith of circle one announced that a cafeteria dinner will be put on by this group on Aug. 17, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Bond.

Noon-hour devotions were conducted by Mrs. C. E. Holman, entitled, "My Presence Shall Go With Me." The Women's Foreign Missionary society meeting was called to order at 1:15 p. m. by Mrs. C. E. Lawrence, president. Mrs. Bert Butler sang a group of secular songs including some written especially for the 17th anniversary of the societies which will occur during the fall of 1939. A mate box playlet, entitled "Three Candles are Lighted," was given with the Mesdames Dale Hull, F. R. Schweitzer, Richard Howland and C. M. Lane taking part.

Miss Schweitzer played a piano solo, "Trees," which was followed by the entrance of Mrs. Evelyn Welles dressed in an Indian garb, who entered carrying a small lighted Indian lamp in her hand. Miss Welles presented the new mate boxes for the coming year which are called "lamps of India" and are fashioned to represent the real Indian lamps. The new study book of India, "Moving Millions," was introduced to the group before adjournment.

P-T. A. TAKES
LIQUOR ACT

P-T. A. council held its July meeting at the beach cottage of Mrs. Mary B. Robertson Tuesday afternoon with 27 members present. The largest part of the afternoon's program was given over to a thorough discussion of section 61B of the act concerning the consumption of alcoholic beverages by minors. This act makes the minor who buys and drinks liquor equally guilty with the dealer who sells it to him.

This was brought to the attention of the parent group by a letter from the state board of equalization. The council decided to send a resolution to the fourth district P-T. A., which will meet Sept. 15, protesting against this section which was added to the act a year ago.

Another topic of discussion was the sales tax vs. the single tax. Present for the afternoon were the Mesdames Kenneth Morrison, Frank Henderson, James Givens, Clarence Bond, Edwin Childs, L. D. Spencer, James Hurd, Oscar de Beck, R. D. Smiley, Paul Eby, Harry Becker, George Calhoun, Dr. Hester, G. W. Eggleston, O. V. Barton, Mary B. Robertson, Ernest Elmer, Robert Steinberger, Kenneth Green, Warren Mendenhall, Jack Munson, Ora K. Heine, Allison Honer, Maud Bailey, J. C. James, O. V. Householder and Robert Korff, fourth district president, who was a guest. The next meeting of the council will be Sept. 6.

HAVE BALBOA
BEACH PARTY

A potluck supper in the pleasant garden of Miss Marguerite Fox's home at 1002 West Camille street was enjoyed Tuesday evening by members of the Quaker organization of the First Methodist church. The group plans to hold a beach party at Balboa on the afternoon of August 23rd.

Of great interest at this week's meeting were reports of delegates to a week's session at Camp Queen Esther at Idyllwild Pines. Those speaking included Miss Vivian Vale, Miss Olive Schweitzer, Miss Dorothy Edwards, Miss Betty Barnes, Miss Ruth Townsend, and Miss Mary Ruth Farres.

Miss Joy Townsley presided over a business session and Miss Schweitzer led devotionals. Those present were the Mesdames Helen Weissman, Peggy Ames, Ruth Ames, Joy Townsley, Marjorie Randall, Jean Ann Randall, Betty Platt, Marjorie Platt, Dorothy Edwards, Ruth Townsend, Marguerite Fox, Vivian Vale, and Olive Schweitzer.

EIGHTSOME
ENJOYS GAY
LUNCHEON

A pleasant little summer party was held at which Miss Cecilia Telef was hostess yesterday afternoon in her home on North Bristol street.

Two tables were set in dainty fashion with pale pink and gold crystal, with harmonizing centerpieces of Talisman roses. Miss Telef was assisted in arranging the party affair by her neighbor, Mrs. Alvin Stauffer.

At the close of the afternoon she presented high score prize for bridge to Miss Ruth De Guenther, and awarded consolation prize to Miss Chelene McBurney. Her guests were Miss De Guenther, Miss McBurney, Miss Elizabeth Winbiger, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Betty Bogue, Miss Paula Purvis, and Miss Dorothy Flaherty. Miss Lorraine Tarbox and Miss Helen Neal were unable to attend.

ANNUAL PICNIC
IS ENJOYED AT PARK

Several scores of DeMolays and Job's Daughters of Santa Ana gathered last night at Irvine park for their annual picnic. Before dark the boys enjoyed a ball game, while after the supper the entire group danced in the pavilion.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Courtney Chandler and E. U. Farmer were present in their advisory capacity to the two organizations, and in prominent positions were Miss Esther Belle Christian, honored queen of Job's Daughters, and Ralph Pagenkopp, master councilor.

: MARY :
STODDARDCollege Lass Is Baffled By The Popularity "Bugaboo"

Many of the young people who are looking forward to their first year away from home, which coincides with the opening of the universities and colleges this fall, are confronted with the same inner doubts as "Questioning." They want to be popular, to have fun, to have friends of both sexes, and at the same time, to make the most of the educational opportunities offered. Here are "Questioning's" questions:

Dear Miss Stoddard: Something is about to occur in my life, which has never confronted me before. I'm going away to college!

Perhaps this in itself isn't so startling, since hundreds of graduates are doing the same thing. But the major problem, which although seems only natural, is that of popularity.

I've never seen what one would term flighty, frivolous, or a gad-a-bout. Nor by this do I mean to infer that I haven't always been doing things or lacking in numerous friends. I'm probably a typical coed who has gradually blossomed from the cocoon stage into something very similar to a butterfly—which may be very lovely to behold but which also may become extremely foolish of new found charms.

Naturally one wants to have a number of friends, girls and boys alike. But if one is to be popular, to be enjoyed because he or she is likable for wide interests and a sincere friendliness to all, just what should one expect? Too, what should be expected of a college coed?

By this I mean, is she something to be considered as one of the many. Or does Miss Coed have a fair chance of being taken for what she wants to be—willing to bring pleasure to others, but maintaining a steady, sincere purpose of being treated with due respect sans passes.

QUESTIONING.—I am so glad you wrote, "Questioning," because I do enjoy hearing from young people. I may say in regard to your problem, that it is the rare boy or girl at college who is an honor student and a popularity contest winner at the same time. There are a number of foolish college students who go "just for the joy ride," and need less to say their college training, if they are fortunate enough to pass by last year's cramming, will be little more than a happy recollection of a period of adolescent frivolity.

I do not entirely approve of the Phi Beta Kappa type who forsakes all of life's little pleasures and becomes a grind. After graduation they may find themselves hopelessly lost in a world not so serious as they are. To advise a "happy medium" sounds a bit odd and trite, but it is not an easy assignment to carry out.

I don't think, my dear, you need to worry over your fear you will not be popular with dashing young male college mates because you want to be pleasing and sincere without becoming cheapened in order to achieve a sort of false "popularity" with the boys. You will find that this type of boy will be attracted to the faster type of girls, and that if he were attracted to you, you would not care much for him anyway.

There is a percentage of boys who go through college on very few dates, and friendship with other boys is all they desire, another percentage is very shy and although scared to death of the girls adopt a superior attitude to cover their bashfulness. Another type of boy you need not worry about is the supercilious sort who refuses to date a "campus girl" and thinks it superior to associate only with girls from finishing schools, girls' colleges and other colleges.

I do not have the least doubt that you will have a happy time at college and meet other sincere fun loving college mates who will find in later years they will remain your closest and best friends despite the prosperity or misfortune that may be your lot.

To pass all your studies and to achieve a friendship with other boys is all they desire, another percentage is very shy and although scared to death of the girls adopt a superior attitude to cover their bashfulness. Another type of boy you need not worry about is the supercilious sort who refuses to date a "campus girl" and thinks it superior to associate only with girls from finishing schools, girls' colleges and other colleges.

QUINTET ENDS
AUTO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. William Ullm and their three sons, Billy, Gerald and Donald, returned yesterday from a seven weeks' automobile trip through the middle west.

The family stopped en route east at Zion and Bryce national parks, and in the Black Hills. After visiting in Minnesota and Wisconsin they came home by way of Colorado.

Miss Horton
Gives Lovely Party

Five exquisite waterlilies from the pool of her grandmother, Mrs. George Edgar, were used yesterday afternoon to center the table at which Miss Roberta Horton seated her guests at a summer party. The affair was held in the beautiful home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Horton of North Park boulevard.

Pastel hues of the blossoms and the lot bowl in which they were placed were repeated in the bouffant skirts of dainty little ladies at each place in whose costumes were the tallies.

The three sisters-in-law of the hostess, Mrs. George Horton, Mrs. Francis Horton, and Mrs. Chester Horton, with her mother, Mrs. J. C. Horton, assisted in arranging attractive bowls of zinnias and sweetpeas in the living room where bridge was played, and in serving the dessert course.

At the close of the afternoon, Miss Roberta, vacationing from the University of Arizona, presented smart wooden bookends to Miss Beth Emison for her high score. Mrs. Paul Hales received a wooden plaque, and Miss Muriel Matzel was given scented soaps for succeeding scores.

Guests at the charming affair were Miss Beverly Williams of Los Angeles, houseguest of the hostess for a few days; Mrs. Paul Hales, Mrs. Ray Cartwright, Mrs. Chester Horton, Miss Roberta Tutthill, Miss Martha Tutthill, Mrs. Joe Knox, Mrs. Francis Horton, Miss Beth Emison, Mrs. Wesley Hauck, Mrs. Mildred Spicer, Mrs. George Horton, Mrs. Ruth Baker, Miss Dorothy Gowdy, Mrs. Ralph Adams, Miss Virginia Graves, Mrs. Lucille Cook, Miss Janet Diehl, Mrs. Walter Allen of Bakersfield, Miss Betty Melanthin, Miss Yvette Blank, Miss Barbara Crawford, Miss Margaret Sawyer, Mrs. Mary Tutthill, Miss Nancy White, Mrs. Marion Brownridge, Miss Betty Timmons, Miss Betty Bradley and Miss Muriel Matzen.

COUNTY'S FEE SUIT AGAINST LOGAN JACKSON STRIKES SNAG

DOESN'T FILE
PARTICULARS

The board of supervisors' $75,000 "fee suit" against Sheriff Logan Jackson struck a serious snag today, as Edgar B. Hervey, San Diego attorney and special counsel for the board, failed to file a bill of particulars demanded by Jackson's attorney.

Default in filing of the bill of particulars—required by Section 454 of the code of civil procedure to be filed within five days—automatically bars all testimony relating to Jackson's alleged $75,000 debt to the county, according to the code.

PARTICULARS DEMANDED
Judge Frank Drumm, Jackson's attorney, filed in superior court July 27 a demand for the bill of particulars, in which Hervey was required to set forth items, amounts, dates and sources of Jackson's alleged revenue. Six days have passed—and unless Hervey can get the default set aside, a matter of discretion for the court, the entire case has failed.

Legally, failure to file a bill of particulars prevents the plaintiff—in this case the county—from introducing at the trial any evidence pertaining to matters which would have been covered had the bill of particulars been filed. In this case, the entire suit depends on fees and profits Jackson is alleged to have collected, and which were the subject of Judge Drumm's demand.

MUST SHOW CAUSE
"We intend to object to the introduction of evidence on matters covered in the demand," said Judge Drumm, asked about his intentions after the default was discovered. He indicated he would ask the court to drop the entire matter.

Other legal authorities said the county's entire case is barred unless Hervey shows good cause why his default should be set aside. Otherwise, they pointed out, Hervey can introduce no evidence at all on Jackson's alleged profits.

Hervey was engaged by the county board several months ago, as the climax to the county's "fee squabble" arising out of the salary ordinance passed by supervisors last year, in which Jackson and four other officials were required to surrender fees they formerly had been permitted to keep under state law.

WORKS ON PERCENTAGE
The San Diego attorney, first seen here when he successfully defended Supervisor N. E. West on grand jury ouster proceedings charging bribery, was to have been paid 27½ per cent of any county moneys recovered under litigation started by him.

He filed the suit July 18 after a petition for a writ of mandate, filed with the fourth district court of appeal in San Diego, had been dropped in favor of the action at law here.

Sheppard Promises Pension Aid While Elliott Pledges Police Co-Operation

A pair of recorded band marches ushered two office seekers down the homestretch of the 1938 political campaign last night as radio listeners switched off "Flat Foot Floogie" long enough to hear Congressman Harry Sheppard, candidate for reelection, and Constable Jesse Elliott, candidate for sheriff, make the first local radio speeches of the campaign.

Elliott was the year's first KVOE political speaker, followed by Sheppard in a blast against what he called Townsend's "pirates."

The constable, in an introductory speech embellished by two march selections, promised efficiency in office, stressing what he called "needed cooperation of the sheriff's office with local police departments in all cities of the county." He will make more addresses later, he said.

Sheppard, in a vigorous denunciation of interests which he says have sidetracked the old-age pension movement in favor of personal political ambitions, pledged himself again to work for pension legislation. He declared he had kept his promises to the people of the nineteenth congressional district made before he was elected in 1936.

"It is not my desire to pick a quarrel with anyone," he began, "... but any leader who is more interested in his own welfare than the common cause makes it necessary for me to express myself."

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the old-age pension movement, Sheppard said, injected partisan politics into the organization, "in defiance of the policies set forth by two national conventions which I attended... I have fought for the pension movement to the limit, and I have kept every pledge. I have no apologies to offer."

"But when it comes to a choice between servitude to the good doctor or allegiance to my people—the people will get all the preference."

"Dr. Townsend told me he had learned his lesson—but alas, he soon forgot... The pension bill, H. R. 4199, appealed to me on its merits, and I supported it on that basis, not merely as a rubberstamp for anyone... and then Dr. Townsend admitted to me he considered the supreme court issue of more importance than his own legislation."

"Did we desert Dr. Townsend? No—Dr. Townsend deserted us who were sent there by the people... The Townsend wrecking crew did not add a single congressional name to the petition for the bill; on the contrary, it discouraged the ways and means committee from granting a hearing."

He called for a "determined and united front" to support state and national pensions, "to the exclusion of animosities and selfish political ambitions."

2 BOYS HURT
AS CARS HIT

Manuel Pinon, 10, suffered a cut over the left eye, and Evangelina Pinon, 11, sustained facial bruises when their automobile, driven by Cesario Pinon, Garden Grove, collided with a parked car last night.

The accident occurred in front of the La Chienca cafe, 2026 West Fifth street, and damaged the parked automobile, registered to Willis Ward, 908 West Fifth street.

Property damage only resulted from a crash involving cars driven by George Sneed, 1519 East First street, and D. C. Edwards, 928 North Baker street, at Eighth and Bristol yesterday.

$2000 Suit Filed
After Auto Crash

Suit for $2000 was filed in Santa Ana justice court yesterday against Horace W. Card, driver of an auto involved in a collision last month on 101 highway near the San Diego county line.

Plaintiffs in the case are Henry George Halberg, driver of a truck involved in the crash, and his wife and daughter, Elizabeth Halberg and Leah Rae Halberg. The driver demands $875 for his injuries. Mrs. Halberg wants $990, and the daughter is suing for $250.

VAGRANCY CHARGED
Robert White, 63, San Diego, was booked in the county jail late yesterday by Constable E. T. Cresce of Laguna Beach to serve 60 days for vagrancy.

3 Members of One
Family Burned and Fourth Is Sought

HINCKLEY, Min. (AP)—Three persons were burned to death at the Walter Hopkins farm early today in a mysterious fire that sent authorities seeking a fourth member of the family.

Sheriff Hannes Ryckema of Pine county notified the state bureau of criminal apprehension to broadcast a description of Paul Hopkins, 21, who he believed left the blazing farm house in his father's automobile.

Inside the charred ruins were found the bodies of Walter Hopkins, his wife and their 16-year-old son.

LAWYERS WILL MEET FRIDAY

President Ira Kroese has called a special meeting of the Orange County Bar association for Friday noon at Daniger's.

The meeting is for the purpose of discussing the proposed change by Orange county supervisors in the salary and fee ordinance relative to justices of the peace and constables.

A report of the bar association committee which recently appeared before the supervisors relative to an increase in the salary of the justice of the peace of Santa Ana township, will be submitted. The committee consisted of H. C. Head, S. M. Reinhaus and Z. B. McKinney.

FRATERNITY
PLANS CRUISE

At Alpha Sigma Lambda meeting at the fraternity house last night, members definitely decided to cruise to the Isthmus of Catalina and Avalon bay on their Labor Day week-end yacht party, and to attend the Commodore's ball on the island the evening of Sept. 3.

The fraternity has reserved eight tables at the San Clemente pavilion where Lee Mann's orchestra is playing tomorrow night. The dancing party will honor Bob Bradley who is going to attend the University of Colorado at Denver this winter.

Present to take part in last night's business meeting were Don Parks, Bob Bradley, Murray Patton, Perry Planchon, Charles Carrillo, Ralph Fuller, Alvin Dehne, Charley Sawyer, Charles Palmer, Allan Ritter, Bob Blanchard, Kenneth Warren, Cecil Starnes, Waldo Smith, Carroll Joy, and two guests, Howard Piper, and Bob Jones.

Associated Farmer Probe Demanded By Minn. Leader

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Elmer A. Benson today asked Senator Robert M. LaFollette's senate civil liberties committee to conduct a nationwide investigation of Associated Farmers, Inc., as well as the Minnesota unit headed by W. F. Schilling of Northfield. Schilling was a member of the federal farm board.

In a letter to Senator LaFollette at Washington, Benson charged that, according to "dozens of reliable members of his audiences," Schilling, as leader of the Minnesota unit, has advocated the use of "axe handles" against organized labor.

The governor told LaFollette he was informed that the first unit in California got its start with $3500 donated by the Pacific Gas & Electric company and the Southern Pacific railroad.

U.S. Envoy Flies To Czechoslovakia

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Hugh R. Wilson, United States ambassador to Germany, arrived by air today from Warsaw "to get a closer view" of developments in the Sudeten Germany minority problem since the arrival of Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator and advisor.

Although the semi-official newspaper Prager presse hailed Wilson's visit as a manifestation of the United States' interest in the fate of Czechoslovakia, the ambassador denied he was on an official mission.

DEATH TAKES
C. E. JACKSON,
EX-SHERIFF

A lingering illness that had confined him to bed for the past six months culminated early today in the death of Calvin E. Jackson, 70, former sheriff of Orange county.

A pioneer Orange county resident, Mr. Jackson served as sheriff from 1914 to 1922. He had been in retirement since leaving the sheriff's post.

Mr. Jackson was born in La Grange, Ala., May 24, 1868, and came to San Bernardino in 1887, arriving in what now is Orange county two years later. He cast his first vote in the election which resulted in formation of Orange county.

Surviving relatives include his widow, Mrs. Lillian Mae Jackson of Santa Ana; two daughters by a former wife, Mrs. Elaine Wilson of Los Angeles and Mrs. Lela Post of Glendale; a stepson, Milton R. Foster, Santa Ana, and a granddaughter, Beatrice Wilson, Los Angeles.

Before being elected sheriff, Mr. Jackson served as constable for the Santa Ana township for eight years. By trade he was a carpenter during his early life.

Mr. Jackson was affiliated with the Santa Ana lodge No. 79, B. P. O. Elks, and he also was active in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Winbiger's mortuary, are being held up pending the arrival of the daughters.

OSCAR HATLE
WINS FREEDOM

Oscar Hatle, 27-year-old Los Angeles mechanic, was acquitted late yesterday by a superior court jury which deliberated more than four hours on Hatle's guilt or innocence of felony drunk-driving charges.

The jury returned its verdict through Foreman Roy L. Hale at 4:22 p. m. in Superior Judge J. G. Scovel's court. It had retired to deliberate at 12:06 p. m.

Hatle was arrested following an accident May 20 at Newport boulevard and 101 highway, in which his car was involved in a collision with an auto driven by Bernard H. Patterson, injuring Patterson, three passengers in his car, and Hatle.

HARDY QUILTS
SAFETY BOARD

Resignation of Asa Hardy from the Santa Ana traffic safety commission was accepted by the commission at a twice-postponed meeting in the city hall yesterday.

The commission voted to recommend William Hinton of the Valencia Truck company as Hardy's successor. Formal appointment of a successor will be made by the city council Aug. 15, when Hardy's resignation will become official.

54,000 CARS
CITRUS FRUIT
IN PROSPECT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Favored by ideal conditions, citrus production in Southern California may reach 54,000 carloads, the Los Angeles county July crop survey estimated today. The estimate is 2000 carloads above that made in June.

A stimulated market, credited to high quality and warm weather in the east, stimulated citrus consumption during July, the survey showed. Nearly 10,000 cars of valencias moved in domestic, export and other markets.

Other features of the report: Avocados—Prices continue high, with only 6 per cent of light crop remaining to be shipped. Largest crop in industry's history indicated for 1938-39.

Walnuts—All 1937 carryover disposed of. New crop appears smaller than last year.

Cotton—Stimulated by hot weather late in month, but with lower prices.

Hogs—Led upward trend in livestock market, reaching highest point of year. Range feed plentiful.

Dancers Perform
At Breakfast Club

The Vera Merilyn Getty studio offered two of its star performers this morning for the entertainment of the Breakfast club, Betty Lou Hiner of Newport Beach giving tap and toe dance numbers, closing with a military specialty, and Ruth Cowdery offering several Spanish costume dances with native rhythmic flavor. The accompanist was Janet Martin.

President Hale Barker advanced Howard Stray to chairmanship of the membership committee, during the summer absence of Frank Patrick. Program chairman for next Thursday will be Paul Sheffield.

TJUANA MAN HELD

PIRATES GAIN BY DOWNING BOSTON BEES 9-4 AND 5-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, announced today the purchase of William B. Lillard, 20-year-old shortstop of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league. The purchase price was not disclosed.

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The calendar must be wrong. If this is Aug. 4, then what are the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are usually sound asleep by this time, doing up there five and one half games in front of the National league pack at this late date, and how come Cleveland's Indians, once so docile and sweet to the leaders, are in there punching, only two games off the Yankees in the American league party?

And those aren't the only cases where either the calendar is way off or someone has his dates twisted. For instance, there are the Cincinnati Reds, dormants of '37, tied with the up-and-down Chicago Cubs for the National league's third place, while the somewhat gasless Cardinals wallow around in seventh and Brooklyn's baffling Dodgers head the second division.

SENATORS HANG ON

And over in the American league, the supposedly woe-begone Washington Senators hang grimly onto fourth place, while Mickey Cochran's Tigers can't seem to stay above the .500 mark.

Take that National league fuss. Pie Traynor must be feeding his blazin' Bucs a combination of raw meat liberally sprinkled with dynamite. Even though the season is on the way toward the three-quarter mark, the "zing" Lee Handley and Pep Young are pouring in the infield, plus the work of the younger pitchers, is making the club hotter than the weather.

They added half-a-game to their first place budge yesterday by knocking off the Bees in Boston in both ends of a double-header, 9-4 and 5-3, which is no easy task in itself, and the fact they fired 28 hits in turning the trick makes it one of the season's wonders.

From the looks of things, the Giants, 5½ games back—seven on the losing side—aren't going to do much catching up, even though they showed signs of coming to life in walloping the Cubs 8-3 yesterday with an attack featured by four homers. The way things shape up now, if the Pirates can maintain their edge through the middle of this month, they have a very good chance of breezing in with the flag.

GOODMAN'S 27TH

The Yankees, who were supposed to have somewhat of a pushover in the American league, can't seem to put any appreciable space between themselves and the Indians. Yesterday they added a slim half-game to their edge by downing the Tigers, 10-7 in 10 innings, with Joe Gordon's overtime homer featuring the winning rally. The Tribe, after dropping a 4-3 decision to Boston's Red Sox, in a twin bill opener, came back to take the nightcap, 8-6.

Ival Goodman's 27th homer paced a three-run rally in the tenth to give the Reds a 6-3 decision over the Phillies, moving the Cincinnati clouters into a third-place deadlock. The Cardinals nipped the Dodgers, 3-2, in a 10-inning night fust.

Connie Mack's Athletics bombarded four pitchers with 34 hits, 14-2 and 13-5. Buck Newsom turned in his tenth win of the year in hurling the Browns to a 5-3 victory over the Senators.

ANGELS TIED BY SOLONS

By the Associated Press

Two good pitching performances moved the Sacramento Senators into a tie with the Los Angeles Angels for leadership of the Pacific Coast baseball league today, and boosted the San Francisco Seals into third place.

Sacramento's Tony Freitas registered his 19th victory of the season last night as he limited the San Diego Padres to six scattered hits and won, 9 to 1. Lou Koupal, who has been an in and out all season, pitched real ball in the pinches as the Seals trimmed the Angels, 4 to 2.

Only two of the six hits the Padres got off Freitas were good for extra bases and both of them were made by Dominic Dallessandro who hit a two-bagger and a home run, the latter in the last inning.

Koupal scored the Seals fourth run in the eighth when he was forced to run from first base after Dominic DiMaggio let go with a third-place deadlock. The Cardinals nipped the Dodgers, 3-2, in a 10-inning night fust.

Connie Mack's Athletics bombarded four pitchers with 34 hits, 14-2 and 13-5. Buck Newsom turned in his tenth win of the year in hurling the Browns to a 5-3 victory over the Senators.

Results Last Night

Elitise, 5; Treesweet, 4 (12 innings).

Elks vs. M. E. Scott.

Games Friday Night

Elitise vs. Alliance Mutual.

Breaking all endurance marks for the most extra innings in a season, Elitise's International Trucks figured in their second 12-inning stretch—giving them a batting average of 1.000 for the two games—by defeating Treesweet Products, 5 to 4, in the City league curtain-raiser last night.

After the two hour and a half softball marathon, the Elks won a listless game for Montgomery Ward, 3 to 0, eliminating Treesweet from any second-half championship aspirations.

One of the most cautious in baseball when it comes to predictions, Paul Wagner already has tabbed his immortal to win the National league pennant. If he does, it will be Pittsburgh's first title since 1927. In case you've forgotten, here are the champions of the past few years:

New York, '37; New York, '36; Chicago, '35; St. Louis, '34; New York, '33; Chicago, '32; St. Louis, '31; St. Louis, '30; Chicago, '29; St. Louis, '28; Pittsburgh, '27; St. Louis, '26; Pittsburgh, '25; New York, '24, '23, '22 and '21; Brooklyn, '20, and Cincinnati, '19. The Pirates won the flag three years ago in 1901, '02 and '03 and again in 1909.

VICTIMS OF BREAKS

Victims of the breaks, Treesweet had planted two men on third and second base in their half of the 11th but were unable to bring them across. Pete Partida, going to the plate with one down, parked one on Walt Handley's first pitch into left-center field, beating the throw to the plate with plenty to spare.

Treesweet and Elitise's battled from the fourth inning with a 3 to 3 deadlock until the 10th when Treesweet worked Larry Barnhart across the plate on his walk. Brother Marvin's single to right and a fielder's choice. That looked as if it would be the ballgame right there, but Partida spoiled things for the first time by blasting a triple to center, which cleared Rhoton's head. A fielder's choice on Holmes' hit to second scored the tying run.

Treesweet's players lost an excellent opportunity to capture the game in the seventh when Elitise's Young's Market, with men aboard each time. In the seventh, Handley forced Kinsner but reached third a play later on Earl Bagwell's double. Leonard Jefferson purposely was walked to fill the bases, but Hanson struck out Larry Barnhart. Elmer Rhoton attempted to steal a double into a triple and was called out in a close play at third, starting the eighth inning. Prices dropped a Texas leaguer into center and Ira Bryant was safe on a fielder's choice and all hands were safe but Kinsner went out.

O'CAMPO RAPS HOMER

Gene O'Campo started the ball rolling for Elitise's by cracking out a homer to rightfield in the first and Elitise's got runs in the second and third. Treesweet collected three hits which tied up the game in the fourth, with the payoff coming when Herb Meyer held the ball while watching the tying run come in.

The game was delayed on numerous occasions by protests from Treesweet and warnings by Umpires Gibbs and Babcock on the delivery of Parisi Rousseau, who went to the mound after Treesweet sent Hanson to the showers in the 11th.

'I GOTTA HUSTLE,' SAYS PIRATES' ARKY VAUGHAN

Lee Handley and Pep Young are making such marvelous plays around second and third for Pittsburgh's league-leading Pirates that Arky Vaughan, shortstop, chuckles, "I gotta hustle, or those two guys will knock my head off with their terrific throws."

Honus Wagner, the immortal who coaches the Bucs, believes the Handley-Young combination fast is becoming one of the best in baseball annals. He also lauds the "come through" hitting of Arky, the former Pullerton athlete who has been a leading factor in Pittsburgh's pennant drive.

One of the most cautious in baseball when it comes to predictions, Paul Wagner already has tabbed his immortal to win the National league pennant. If he does, it will be Pittsburgh's first title since 1927. In case you've forgotten, here are the champions of the past few years:

POPULARITY OF PLUNGE MAY COST HIM A TRIP

Popularity of Santa Ana High school's plunge, open to the public this summer, may cost the director, Coach Reece Greene, and his wife a trip to Catalina Island. Greene planned to accept an invitation to spend a week with the former Brea coach, Stan Gould, at Avalon, but now that swimming continues to draw, he may be forced to give up the vacation.

The plunge first opened with morning and afternoon sessions only. Greene thought he would give the working public a "break," so he opened the pool on Tuesday nights. The experiment proved so popular that, beginning tonight, the plunge also will be open on Thursday nights.

The nominal admission of 10 cents is charged.

LIONETTES ON SPREE, 16-4 Mast Hits Two Home Runs

MAJOR GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE (End of Third Quarter)

	W.	L.	Pct.
Columbia Pictures	10	5	.667
Orange	9	6	.600
Young's Market	9	6	.600
Bank of America	8	7	.533
Perfection Bread	9	9	.500
Pepsi-Cola	3	12	.200

Without wasting time and energy in making a few runs at a time, Orange's Lionettes went right out and scored in just two innings—the first and fifth, manufacturing eight runs on each attempt to hang up a 16 to 4 triumph over Pepsi-Cola's girls at Orange last night.

With pennant fever at high pitch in the Major Girls' softball league race, four teams are within shooting distance of the second half crown, as the six-team circuit swings into the final quarter drive. The Lionettes, tied with Young's Market for second place and a game behind Columbia Pictures, meet Perfection tomorrow night, and have tough engagements with Young's at Orange next Wednesday and Bank of America a week from Friday.

Margaret Mast, petite third-baseman, fairly sparked with her clouting last night, ringing up two home runs and a double in four attempts. Two were on base in the first and her second round tripper started the fifth-inning eighth-run orgy. Her double finished up the fifth frame.

Lois Terry pitched two-hit ball and three of her opponents' four runs were earned.

NAMING OF WYOMING . . .
First settlers in Wyoming were emigrants from the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania. They carried west the name of their former home, unofficially applying it to the new land.
In 1865 a bill was introduced in Washington to establish a temporary government for the territory, with its name to be officially "Cheyenne." A bitter dispute followed as nobody knew just how Cheyenne was spelled. The bill was shelved.
Three years later an attempt was made to organize Wyoming under the name of "Lincoln." This also failed, and once more the bill was sidetracked.
That same year a third petition to organize the country was introduced into congress. This bill passed favorably and on July 25, 1890, the Territory of Wyoming was officially organized.

Marijuana

A good many parents got a nasty shock last week when they read that a district attorney's raid had uncovered the sale in Anaheim of 1000 marijuana cigarettes a day, many to school children.

They wondered secretly whether perhaps their own youngsters or their playmates might not have been reached by the insidious narcotic habit.

Some of those children have been reached. They were induced to "try" one of the little brown cigarettes, as a "thrill." Later a good percentage went back for more.

District Attorney W. F. Menton says the traffic in narcotics, principally marijuana, has been increasing steadily. What once was only a filthy habit for a few ignorant laborers has become a "thrill" for high school and junior college students who should know better—but are too impressionable to withstand the peddler's sales talk.

Menton's Anaheim raid was a commendable start; and the public indignation which resulted may do much toward driving the dope peddlers out—but there are other centers in the county, and there are several persistent human leeches who make a profitably living by tearing down the bodies and souls of mere children with deadly drugs. It is the duty of every officer—not only the district attorney, whose job is principally prosecution, but the sheriff, the constables and the police departments, who are the primary arresting officers—to pour the dope peddler back down the sewer where he came from.

No other criminal is quite so foul.

British cabinet reported planning to prepare English people against shock of proposal to pay war debt to United States. It's people of U. S. who may not be able to stand the shock.

Attaboy, Virginia!

It isn't often we agree with the Fascists, but one of their leading editors, Virginia Gayda of "Il Gironale D'Italia," seems to us to have something in his campaign to abolish collars and neckties.

"It is really a matter of liberating cerebral circulation, especially that affecting the eyes," he writes. And he adds that, if tight collars are discarded, the better nourished brains of Italian men will be able to think more clearly.

We don't know about Editor Gayda's further proposal—a return to the "traditional Roman costume." That, we suppose, would mean togas, which might be all right in Italy and, in this country, for members of the Ku Klux Klan.

But freedom from collars and neckties would be a pleasure. Even if it didn't liberate our cerebral circulation it would make us a doggone sight more comfortable in summer. So we're going to watch the progress of Editor Gayda's campaign with interest, hopeful that the Italians will soon be wearing no man's collar—except, of course, Mr. Mussolini's.

Owed to a Lady

The world's most famous lady is having a $1,500,000 beauty and rejuvenation treatment. No, it isn't Wallis Windsor, nor Shirley Temple, nor Barbara Haudwitz-Reventlow. It's Miss Liberty, who stands on Bedloe's island in New York City's harbor.

This famous lady cost only $700,000 when she was presented to the United States by France on Oct. 28, 1886. Her beautification is to cost twice that much. In the process, however, is included a costly seawall that will increase the area of the island from 12 to 15 acres.

Miss Liberty has seen a lot of water flow past her island in 52 years. Also commerce; also history. She has seen the great and near-great of a wide world come and go.

And, although so costly a refurbishment may seem slightly overlavish, probably none will begrudge it, especially since the job creates work.

Miss Liberty is the greatest greeter the world has ever known. She has been on the job a long time and has given perfect service. She will be on the job for a long time to come—we hope.

One apparent reason unemployment figures are still high in California is that so many citizens are running for office.

Hint to Lawyer Candidates

Here is a challenge to all the lawyers running for the legislature in the state-wide primary election this month:

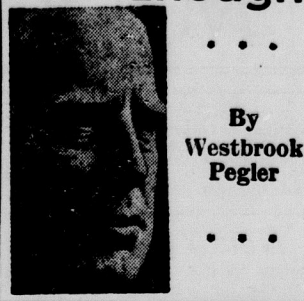

Let them each publish a sworn statement, prior to the election, which, in effect, will say: "I will not, during the term of my office, if elected, accept a fee or any money or favor of any kind from a client who is interested in any legislation pending before either house of the legislature of which I am a member."

We are not overly sanguine that many lawyer candidates will rush forward to follow this suggestion, but we think they all ought to do it for more than one good reason.

They should do it for the sake of public confidence in government and government officers, which certainly needs bolstering.

They should do it for the sake of their constituents to whom they pledge honest discharge of their duties and fulfillment of their oath of office.

Fair Enough

NEW CANAAN, Conn.—An editorial crisis has been happily weathered by the Connecticut Nutmeg, the roguish weekly publisher by a little group of serious thinkers up here away from it all, of which Heywood Broun, president of the Newspaper Guild, C.I.O. union, is one of the contributing proprietors. Gene Tunney, another of the contributing proprietors, composed an article for the issue of July 28 with intent to disparage the courage of his neighbor, Congressman Alfred Norton Phillips, of Stamford. Phillips, though a New Dealer by political profession, is an economic royalist being an heir to a fortune amassed in the manufacture of famous household remedy, good for man or beast. In congress he has been given credit for a determined, single handed and, as yet, unsuccessful struggle to abolish the reptile houses of all the American zoological gardens lest there come sometime an earthquake to shake apart their cages and loose upon the land hundreds, or any-way, dozens, of venomous serpents.

On a recent occasion, Congressman Phillips took a sock at the chin of Harold Skidd, a junior politician of the district. By Tunney's account, he missed and Skidd then bounced his one-two off the congressman's chin and swooned him in the arms of friends.

Tunney still further reported that on a previous occasion Congressman Phillips threw a punch at a man thirty years older than himself, missed, caught a right in return and fled, shouting "a horse, a horse; my kingdom for a horse."

Although the Connecticut Nutmeg has now rolled 11 issues, and was acclaimed as a paper in which thinkers of strong opinions would hit straight from the shoulder, Tunney's article on the local congressman was the first essay that might not have been published in the Washington Star without offense to the editorial policy of that friendly journal.

But when Tunney fearlessly denounced Congressman Phillips, George Bye, the sort of editor, changed two words in the tail paragraph of his copy, and strife broke out in the happy family of suburban editors. He caused Tunney to say that Congressman Phillips enjoyed a fight whereas he had intended to say the reverse and Gene's humiliation was exceeded only by his wrath at Bye of whom he demanded a written apology. Professional journalists of the circle were inclined to smile at this rather over two words but Tunney is nothing if not earnest and he assuredly is not nothing.

Bye has given Tunney his written apology so the Nutmeg crisis is over now and all that remains to be told is the news that Broun, the employer, is operating a rat, cat and fink shop in the terms of Broun, the president of a C.I.O. union. They hired a reporter last week who is not a member of the Newspaper Guild and the Connecticut Nutmeg's paid editorial staff is 100 per cent non-union. Life is real up here away from it all.

BROUN ON DEATH

We snoot at our ancestors and call them inhibited. We have gained freedom but we have gained it by swapping old taboos for new. Today a young man would violate no propriety if he said to his hostess, "And now, Madame or Miss, as the case may be, what do you think of the campaign against venereal diseases?" If he inquired as to her opinion regarding immortality he would be regarded as a boor and a bouncer. I'm for the new freedom and the old freedom, too. Our ancestors talked lustily and gushily about death and hereafter. In the modern age these have become the dirty words which are not mentioned. All who love life should bear in mind the other side of the coin. Only thus can one spend freely.

As for the hereafter why isn't that a legitimate subject for debate and conversation? It is not a problem which can be solved in an afternoon or an evening. This is a topic upon which everybody has a right to an opinion. No person in the group can suddenly produce a clipping of a column by Walter Lippmann or Walter Winchell and prove the speaker to be all wrong. Even Dorothy Thompson cannot assume the right to say the last and final definitive word on the subject.

There is a spiritual which says "Everybody talking about Heaven ain't gwine there." Even so I think it is a step in the right direction.

And so my toast is to our ancestors and their hope of Heaven. Let us, too, make it articulate. Heywood Broun in Connecticut Nutmeg.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Assistant secretary of War Louis Johnson is on his way to Alaska, but the full significance of his trip is not generally known.

Flying in an amphibian plane from Seattle, with an assortment of maps and charts, he is making a preliminary survey of a highway to be built over which the United States could send troops and military equipment in an emergency.

This is where the diplomatic difficulty comes in. Canada must guarantee that the road may be used in time of war, though a concession by Canada as an unneutral act.

The idea is being sold to Canada with two strong arguments: She would get a $12,000,000 highway without cost, and she would get many times this amount in tourist business when this route is opened for automobile traffic.

If he can get the president's approval, Johnson will put a battalion of engineers to work immediately on a mile-by-mile survey of the route. The Twenty-ninth battalion of engineers is stationed in the Northwest, ready to do a quick job.

Business Cheer

A confidential report on July business conditions has just been radioed to the president aboard the USS Houston by his inner council economists.

The report was not entirely complete, since business indices for the entire month had not been compiled. Nevertheless it was sufficiently complete to give the president real ground for economic cheer.

Later in the month the inner council economists will be able to prepare another report which they are confident will be even more cheering.

This is what they were able to radio the president so far: 1. Inventories—There has been a continuing rapid liquidation of the huge stocks that clogged the channels of production last winter. In the automobile industry, General Motors has reduced its inventories from the huge record of $279,000,000 on December 31, 1937, to $176,000,000 on July 1, 1938—a drop of $103,000,000. In the same period General Motors' "cash-in-hand" reserves increased from $151,000,000 to $243,000,000. Similarly, Chrysler cut its inventories by 44 per cent, from $54,000,000 to $29,400,000.

2. Consumer Expenditures—Increased six per cent over June which had a four per cent better record than May.

3. Industrial Production—Although July normally is off-season, with slackening manufacturing activities, its industrial production went up to 80, a 3-point gain over June which chalked up a 1-point gain over May, which saw the low of the recession. This year's July index of 80 compares with 114 for the same month last year, while May's index of 76 is against 118 for May, 1937.

4. Employment—Up by between 750,000 and 1,000,000, with the gain largely in agricultural labor. There was a small net rise in industrial employment for the month but the big advance in this field is not due until late fall when the effect of the government's large scale spending program will begin to make itself felt.

The total U. S. employment in June was 31,600,000, July, according to preliminary estimates, will be around 32,250,000.

Commission Shy

There is one phase of Madame Secretary Perkins' recent trip to Europe which she will not discuss publicly.

This is the activities of the president's commission sent to study British and Swedish labor laws. Confidential word is that certain industrial members of the commission have been seeing the "wrong people" and unions are preparing to kick up a rumpus about the whole affair.

Miss Perkins conferred with the commission in London, but she is gushy over what she learned. "What do you think will be the result of the commission's study?" a newsman asked.

"A report," was Madame Secretary's bland reply.

"Well, won't that be a surprise? Of course you wouldn't by any chance know what will be in this report?"

"No."

"Do you know by any chance," inquired another newsman, "that British labor leaders told members of the commission that there had never been any labor spies in England until American-owned firms introduced them there?"

"Yes," admitted Miss Perkins. "I heard that they had received such information."

"And did you hear that they also gave the names of these firms?"

"No, I didn't," snapped Miss Perkins. "And even if I had, I wouldn't tell you."

THE PLAYING OF IT?

Franz Strauss, the father of Richard Strauss, the great composer, was a wonderful musician, capable of playing almost any instrument, but specializing in the French horn. He utterly detested Wagner's music, and one day when he was playing under Wagner's leadership in Munich, the composer said to him: "Strauss, you can't be such an anti-Wagnerite, as I hear. You play my music so beautifully!" "And what," asked Strauss, "has that got to do with it?"

"Er, well, I don't expect so," said the boy. "I fancy we'll keep on having the things charged, the same as here." —Minneapolis Journal.

THE COURT YIELDS

"This is the fourth time you have been before this court for traffic violations," remarked the judge, severely. "Aren't you ever going to abide by our laws?"

"Give me time, Your Honor. Give me time," replied the man. The judge promptly complied with the prisoner's request.

The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

WORK

To the Editor: Henry Ford says that the spirit of dependence is a foe to the United States. He is right. The truth is that the depression has caused every mother's son of us to go soft. From bootblack to bank president we all want something for nothing. None of us wants to pay the price of prosperity, which is plenty of hard work.

This country was built by people who had vision and a willingness to work hard enough to make the country prosper. This spirit of vision and hard work is the only one which will cause our country to go forward. Prosperity cannot be gained like a winning ticket in a monthly raffle. As our President has said, "There is no substitute for hard work, there is no magic formula."

Now that we know what is required of us, it is up to us how long we delay the coming of prosperity, and how long we stand around and complain about the nonappearance of a miracle to make our dreams a reality.

RUSS DIXON.

Science News

By ROBERT D. POTTER

It is seldom realized that it is not the eyes which enable man to see three dimensions but a combination of his two eyes, a brain and experience.

Each eye alone can see only two dimensions, width and length. But the curious optical trick of the two eyes, in the normal human head, is that they take these two-dimensional views and produce the effect of a third dimension. It is the difference in the appearance of what the two eyes see which determines the magnitude of this third dimension, says C. D. Moriarty, engineer, in the General Electric Review.

Mr. Moriarty cites a simple experiment, which illustrates this point, that takes only a few moments to try.

Hold a pencil horizontally in one hand at arm's length and pointing across the line of vision; in the other hand hold another pencil vertically about halfway between the horizontal pencil and the eye. Look at this combination, first with one eye closed and then with the other closed.

The vertical pencil will appear to shift, with the alternating closing of the eyes, back and forth about half the length of the horizontal pencil.

Move the vertical pencil farther from the eyes and note that the apparent shift becomes less and less until, when the two pencils touch, there is no shift.

"There is a mathematical relation between this shift and the distance between the pencils, or the third dimension, states Mr. Moriarty. 'The greater the shift, the greater is the third dimension and vice versa.'

A one-eyed person, a drunk and a baby are three types of people who lack the ability to "see" the third dimension. The one-eyed person lacks the two eyes needed to obtain the two different views of the object. The drunk sees two images but his befuddled brain cannot combine them properly. The baby sees the proper images but lacks experience to know what the third dimension is in the terms of nearness or farness. (Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

If I can't say somethin' nice about a person, I usually keep my mouth shut. Some folks, though, jest won't let you keep quiet. They keep fishin' for a compliment until a fella has'ta say somethin' to be polite. Didja ever get caught in a situation like that and say somethin' you thought was nice only to have it bounce back and skin your own knuckles?

For instance, my aunt was fishin' around and said to Uncle Slug, "I'm pretty tired of hearin' you complain about my relations. Can't you think of anything nice to say about them?" Uncle Slug thought a minute and said, "Well—yes, one thing... they were all opposed to our marriage."

CARNEGIE'S

Do you feel that the depression has robbed you of your chance for success? It hasn't if you will only sense a need and meet it.

Read this story of a woman who went into business seven years ago with the depression in full swing.

Mrs. Spelle Speer was a choir singer in St. Augustine, Fla., and didn't know much more about business than an Eskimo knows about hot baths.

Her husband died and she followed her two married children who had "gone Nawth" to New York City.

Thousands upon thousands of people were out of work. Ragged and tattered men stood on the street waiting to get a free cup of coffee.

Mrs. Speer, missing the friendly atmosphere of old St. Augustine, wanted to keep busy.

One day she went into a delicatessen to get lunch and saw on the counter a flabby, moth-eaten looking pie. Right then and there, as she sat perched on a high stool, an idea was born. She could bake better pies than this ancient relic. She approached the proprietor.

"Would you like to have some good home-baked pies to sell?" she asked.

"Why, lady, I don't think I could sell 'em. I don't ever sell more'n a couple of pies a day."

"If you had some real good, home-baked pies, don't you think you could sell them?"

"Well—maybe. If you want to bring around a couple I'll try 'em out."

Mrs. Speer floated home. The next afternoon found her eagerly entering the store to learn whether they would open a can of peaches for dinner or whether her family would be generously provided with lemon pie. The peaches won. The proprietor asked her with a smile as big as a pie.

"Bring me four tomorrow morning," he said.

Next Mrs. Speer called on William Meyer, the proprietor of a cold drink stand on Roosevelt avenue.

"No use," he discouraged her. "I don't sell much of that sort of stuff."

Finally he agreed to try out her pies if she would take back what he couldn't sell. Mrs. Speer had faith in her pies.

After baking in her apartment for two years, she approached a real estate dealer about a bake shop.

Again she met discouragement. The well-wishing man warned her that the shop she had selected was not in a good location; on a side street, and nine other bake shops in the neighborhood—too much competition.

"Do you really think I have any competition in good home-baked pies and cakes?" she quipped.

The dealer reflected silently for a moment, then made out a lease.

Today four bakers in "Nellie Speer's Kitchen" on 83rd street, Jackson Heights, turn out five thousand pies a year in addition to cakes, cookies and bread. And Mr. Meyer, still another baker, has a restaurant where his soft drink stand once stood.

I asked Mrs. Speer what was the leading factor in her success, and she said: "I just saw a need and met it."

Look around you. There are needs everywhere. Meet them and success will follow as day follows night. (Copyright, 1938)
